

So Rich, So Poor

Why It's So Hard to End Poverty in America

Hosted by the Center for Child and Youth Policy

Please join us for a presentation by

Dr. Peter Edelman

Georgetown University Law Center

A lifelong antipoverty advocate, Dr. Peter Edelman is a lawyer, policy maker, and law professor at the Georgetown University Law Center specializing in the fields of poverty, welfare, juvenile justice, and constitutional law. He worked for Senator Robert F. Kennedy and for the Clinton Administration, where he resigned to protest Clinton's signing of the welfare reform legislation.

Dr. Edelman will be discussing his current research and his recently published book, So Rich, So Poor: Why It's So Hard to End Poverty in America. He will delve into what is happening to the people behind the income disparity statistics and will focus particularly on the continuing crisis of young people of color.

March 4th, 4:00-6:00 pm

The Women's Faculty Club, UC Berkeley

Light appetizers and refreshments will be provided following the presentation.

More Information at ccyp.berkeley.edu. To RSVP, please email ccyp@berkeley.edu.